

Manuscript editing for submission:

Peer-reviewed journals have very strict guidelines that any manuscript to be submitted has to comply by. These guidelines could include word limits, abstract structure, citation limit and reference style as well as topographical details for tables and figures among others.